Air Crash

Intra University Competitions

About the Event

It's a beautiful picturesque day. You are flying safely in your cozy flight and you are sipping on a mimosa while watching your favourite movie. Then suddenly you hear loud noises which you can't make sense of. The pilot announces that there is a fault in the engine and the plane is going down. That's not all he says, he says that there is only one parachute left that can save you but here is the twist, there is definitely more than one person who needs that lifesaving device. You end up in a dogfight with your co-passengers to get that parachute and save your life. You have a hard task of proving why you deserve it more than others on that metal flying machine that is going down.....
